

PRIMARY LAW IS BEING SHOWN UP

EVEN ADVOCATES OF MEASURE
REALIZE ITS USELESSNESS.

LEGISLATURE IS OBJECTIVE

Candidates Will Seek Control of Legislature Rather Than Vote in "Straw" Primary.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., April 29.—The danger signal has been run up to the main body of the La Follette ship in Wisconsin, and from Washington the senator himself has sent the message of necessity measure of alarm. The recent decision of the Wisconsin supreme court in sustaining the constitutionality of the primary election law, has operated, together with the La Follette repudiation of the result of the primary election law two years ago when Senator Stephenson was nominated, to debate the senatorial primary to the level of a pastime or straw vote, without force or effect and hardly worth the struggle necessary to carry it.

The La Follette people enacted the primary election law and they themselves were the first to repudiate the suggestion that the verdict of the party voters registered in the primary election with respect to the United States senatorship was without any binding effect upon members of the legislature. They held an and came near defeating the election of Senator Stephenson in 1908 after he had won the nomination in the primary election. Now the supreme court has emphatically laid down the law that the only view under which the primary election statute can be sustained as constitutional is that it laws absolutely no moral legal obligation upon a member of the legislature to regard the result of the primary election.

A concurring opinion filed by Justice Marshall uses more emphatic language in this regard than the decision of the court. He sets out that it is not only the privilege but the duty of a member of the legislature to exercise judgment with respect to the election of a United States senator without regard or notice of the result of the primary election.

The objective of the United States senatorial campaign was two years ago the primary election. Now it is the meeting of the legislature, precisely as in the old days before the primary election law was enacted, and the present campaign in Wisconsin, in which La Follette and Cook are opponents, is being waged more with respect to getting legislative support than to get votes in the "straw" primary.

The question of the election of La Follette is one of grave doubt, which will be readily seen when it is considered that there are now eight hold-over state senators who are against La Follette, that there will be probably at least forty democrats and social democrats in the next legislature, that there are twenty-two legislative districts in which elections will take place this fall which even when the La Follette faction has been in this state, has always consistently voted for La Follette members of the legislature. La Follette to be re-elected must not only have a majority of the republican members, as in the old days when the party members clustered on United States senator, but he must have 47 of the 113 members of the senate and assembly in order to be elected.

The republicans in Wisconsin who believe in supporting the administration at Washington and who are not part of the insurgent movement are disposed to defeat La Follette if the means available are sufficient. They realize that they have him fighting in a corner and that he will need the loss of his senate seat with all the strength he can muster. The county option issue is causing an air of trouble among the La Follette ranks, and for the first time in his political career La Follette has taken occasion to deny a newspaper report. He has usually refrained from denials. It was reported that he was taking sides in the county option fight, adding with the brewers, and he is out with a statement denying this report but carefully avoiding any suggestion as to where he does stand.

W. D. Connor, former La Follette follower and once lieutenant governor and chairman of the republican state central committee, is apparently strong in the leadership against La Follette, but his attempt to direct the conduct of Gov. Davidson has not tended to harmonize the Taft faction in this state. Gov. Davidson desired to retire from politics, but was ordered by Connor to be a candidate for the senate against La Follette. He declined, but admitted that he would be willing to stand for another term as governor. In order to supervise the completion of the new $5,000,000 capitol, Mr. Connor said Davidson would have to run for the senate or not run at all, and forthwith brought out J. T. Fairchild for the governorship.

Now Gov. Davidson's friends are up in arms and demand that Davidson stand for a re-nomination. His friends have suggested that the republicans hold a mass convention something on the plan of the conventions of the old days, at that time suggest candidates for state offices.

SWEDEN IS EAGERLY AWAITING HIS VISIT

Great Preparations Are Being Made
For Roosevelt's Reception in Stockholm Next Week.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Stockholm, April 29.—Intense interest is displayed by all classes in Theodore Roosevelt's visit to Stockholm next week, and great preparations are being made for his reception. The Swedish government plans to receive the former President of the United States with the highest honors. The American colony is preparing to welcome him and the literary, philosophical and scientific bodies all desire to entertain him.

From all indications Stockholm will be as lavishly decorated in honor of Colonel Roosevelt as on the occasion of the recent visits to the city of the Russian and British rulers. In anticipation of an unusual demand the local dealers have had in business supplies of American flags and red, white and blue bunting. One of the chief features of the decorative scheme will be a handsome welcome arch to be erected at the entrance of Fredsgatan, a short distance from the railway station. The archway will be for the money for the arch and also for the decoration of many of the streets and public buildings.

Owing to the absence of King Gustave in the south of France the Roosevelt party will be officially entertained by Crown Prince Christian, who is acting as regent. Upon arrival at the Stockholm Central Station the party will be received by Minister Graven and the attaches of the American legation. The Swedish government will probably be represented by Baron Trolle, the foreign minister, and several other high officials, while General Vargerg, the governor of Stockholm, will be on hand to extend the municipal greeting.

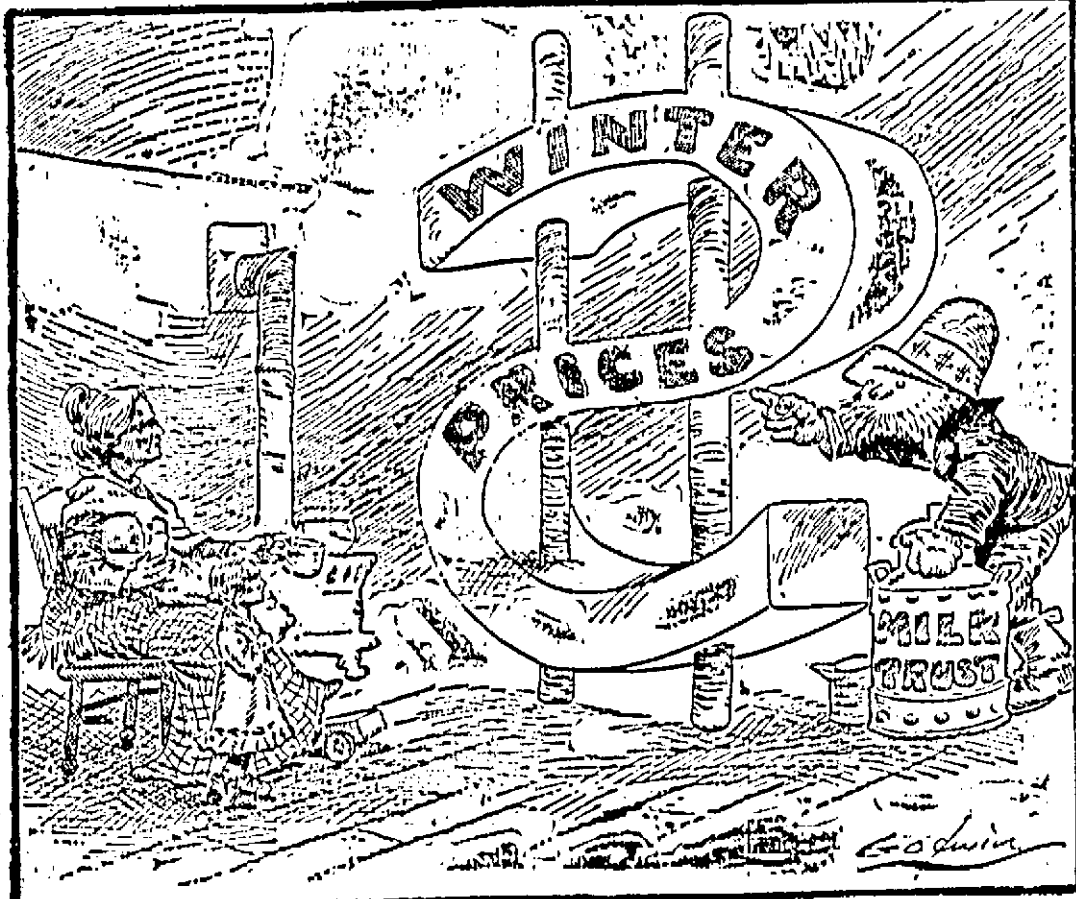

The Roosevelt party will ride in the royal carriages to the palace, where they are to be entertained at luncheon. The way will lead through Strandvagen, the fashionable promenade of Stockholm, and through other streets which will be gayly decorated in honor of the occasion.

Former President Roosevelt will find much to interest him in the royal palace, a stately edifice built in the seventeenth century and little remodeled since then. It is beautifully situated at the head of the lake and its chief approach is from the Lyons Hill, opposite the North Bridge. The Crown Prince and Princess occupy one portion of the palace, the King and Queen the rest. Though the state apartments are spacious and well furnished, they are without show and ostentation. The private apartments are filled with valuable books, pictures, coats and tapestries collected by the late King Oscar, who was famous for his learnings, his love for science and his taste in art. The most valuable of the furnishings in the royal apartments is a collection brought from the Orient. Of great interest is Colonel Roosevelt, and who also will be the immense billiard room occupying a part of the upper floor of the palace. This room is filled with trophies of the hunt collected by King Gustave, who is a great lover of outdoor sport. There are hundreds of deer heads, bears, moose and crocodiles.

Though the question of their stay in Stockholm will be short it is expected that the Roosevelt party will find time to visit many of the interesting places in and about the city. They will doubtless inspect the National Museum and the Northern Museum, both of which are famous throughout Europe. Visits will be paid to the principal government buildings, all of which are spacious and many exceedingly beautiful. Two handsome buildings completed not long since are those occupied by the National Diet and the National Bank. These buildings show the wonderful Swedish architecture which has made during the last two decades.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Boston, Mass., April 29.—By the first of next week Milk street will be the only thing suggestive of the hectic life in Boston, if the plans of the Boston Cooperative Milk Producers' Association do not miscarry. The farmers all over New England have formed a close organization and have agreed to withdraw their milk from the Boston market after tomorrow, when the winter price agreements between the farmers and the contractors will expire. The farmers declare that on account of the cost of grain, the increased wages for help and other expenses he can no longer stand the customary summer reduction in the price of milk. In other words he demands that the winter rate must be maintained throughout the year and declares that, unless the contractors agree to his terms Boston will stand a good chance of being so dry May 1 that her people will have to drink the seawater.

HOUSE OF LORDS PASSES BUDGETS

ACCEPTS MEASURE IT ONCE RE-JECTED FOLLOWING PEOPLE'S APPROVAL.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

May Bring About A Financial Crisis
in England Owing to Taxes to be Imposed Under Its Provisions.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

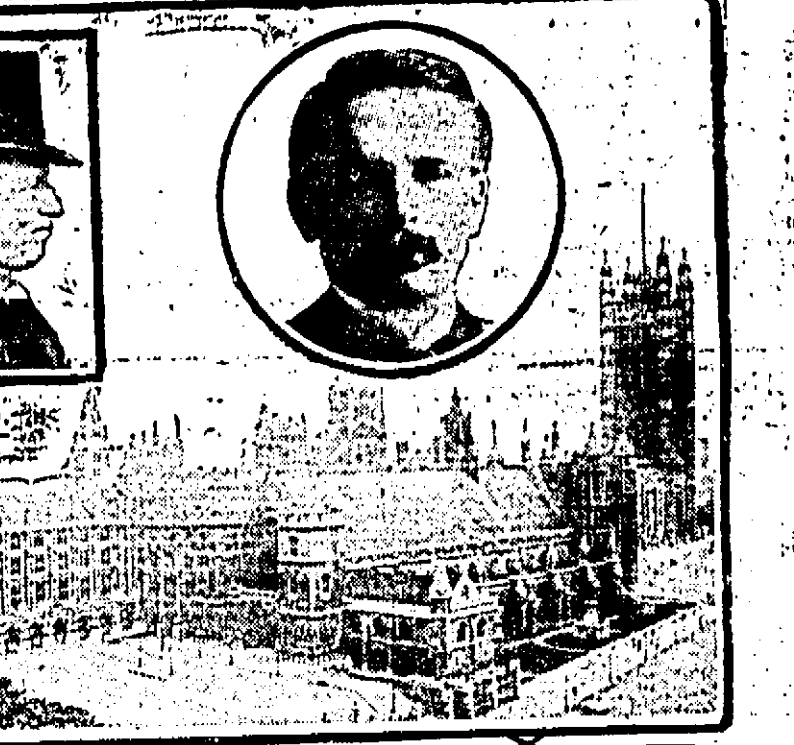

London, April 28.—The House of lords has passed the 1909 budget without change. As was expected the paper was signed by the king this morning.

The increase of the land taxes and the imposition of taxes upon all kinds of luxuries was resented by the conservative lords. When the liberals retained control of the house of commons at the recent election the lords announced they would accept the decision of the people.

Passage of the measure may bring about a financial crisis. Enormous amounts of taxes have accumulated in the banks and there will be heavy withdrawals to meet the obligations. Liberal leaders claim most of the back taxes will be paid, but the financial experts generally declare they will not be, and that much of the money is lost to the government.

The measure passed the house under the Aquilith "Guillotine" motion, which carried by a substantial vote, the liberal budget with its radical measures of taxation on the land lords. This was accomplished through the help of John E. Redmond, Nationalist leader, who is gladly supporting the government's policies because of financial injustice to Ireland, to be remedied only by home rule and this could not be won until the veto power of the House of Lords was restricted.

In the fight William O'Brien, the anti-Redmond home ruler from Cork, figures largely and his vitriolic at-

MERGER OF COUNTRY SCHOOLS IDEA DID NOT SCORE A HIT

With County Board at the Closing Session Yesterday—No Action on Supt. Antkowiak's Report.

County School Superintendent O. D. Antkowiak, in his report to the board of supervisors yesterday afternoon, laid considerable emphasis on the difficulty of securing a sufficient number of good, experienced teachers for the country schools and stated that in his opinion the reorganization of all the country districts and the combining of several of them into graded schools was the only plan that promised to solve the problem. This scheme was no longer an experiment, he said. The little two grade schools scattered through the state were showing results far beyond their comparative importance. The board members, many of them, were not favorably impressed with this suggestion.

There are now, according to Mr. Antkowiak, 210 teachers in 170 places and 8,000 children of school age. Last year 82 one-room schools in the county were approved for state aid. The aid which amounts to $50 per school is said to be contingent upon the installation of a certain type of heating and ventilating system which costs $200 and which, it is alleged, has not given perfect satisfaction, the scholars in some instances continually complaining of cold feet.

There has been a systematic effort to enforce the compulsory education law which requires 120 days attendance on the part of those between the ages of 7 and 14.

The superintendent stated that a county agricultural school and a training school for county teachers, such as were established at White-water and Brookfield during the past year, are badly needed in this county which is yearly paying thousands of dollars to other counties to help them maintain institutions of the kind. It is costing Rock county 75 cents a week tuition for every scholar from its confines who is attending these training schools.

Supt. Antkowiak asked for better of these quarters than those now provided in the basement of the court house. The report was referred to Committee No. 5 and the board adjourned without taking any further definite action with regard to it.

Two Bridges to Be Built.
Committee No. 12 recommended that the county appropriate $1,500 to defray half the expense of constructing a bridge in Section 27, town of Avon, and $1,000 to defray one-fourth of the expense of constructing one across the Sugar river on the highway between the town of Avon, Rock county, and the town of Spring Grove, Green county. The report was adopted and resolutions embodying the recommendations were passed. The committee will act as commissioners in overseeing the construction of the said bridges.

By a vote of 20 to 17, Dr. Bartlett was permitted to submit an amended bill for her services in caring for the little Hans child but Chairman Paul found that the said statement was not itemized in the proper fashion and ruled that no action could be taken thereupon. Thus ended the third consecutive attempt to get this $200 bill before the supervisors for action at this present session.

Meet Again in November.
The supervisors passed their per diem and mileage appropriations and adjourned about four o'clock. The next regular meeting will be held in November.

FINED FOR GIVING BOY TASTE OF BEER

Engineer Fred Benwitz of Croak Brewery Assessed $5 and Costs This Morning—Mayor Handled Case.

In municipal court this morning Fred Benwitz, engineer at the Croak Brewery, admitted that he gave Willie Wheelock, age 13, a nickel for wheeling some coal and also, when he asked for some beer to quench his thirst, half-full a small glass for him twice from the keg which is kept on tap for the exclusive use of workmen. He then took the boy away from the place and did not see him again.

Mayor W. F. Carlo, who made a personal investigation of the case, stated that in his opinion what Mr. Benwitz stated was correct and that the boy had either secured the additional intoxicants which put him in a state of drunken frenzy elsewhere or had returned to the keg himself. He did not think that Mr. Benwitz intended to drink any more and recommended that only the minimum penalty be imposed.

Judge Pifford was inclined to the same opinion but in assessing the minimum fine of $5 and costs of $2.80, took occasion to say that giving liquor to minors was about the worst thing a man interested in the liquor business could be guilty of. The fine and costs were promptly paid. Young Wheelock was released last night and will be sent to the reformatory.

LIQUOR DEALERS TO UPLIFT THE SALOON

Feature of Saloonkeepers' Banquet at Manitowoc Was Absence of Liquors and Wines.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Manitowoc, April 29.—Liquor dealers of the city launched a campaign for better saloons and for uplift of the business at a banquet held last night when seventy dealers and other business men of the city were guests. The banquet was one of the most elaborate affairs of the kind ever served in the city and state officers of the Liquor Dealers' association were present. Probate Judge Chas. Pook, Municipal Judge A. Schmidt, E. L. Kelley and others gave addresses. An unusual feature was the absence of liquor and wines on the menu.

BOYS WHO STOLE THE WEDDING CAKE WERE RUN DOWN BY CHIEF

Eight boys who stole the 40 pounds of fruit cake baked for the Rowe-Lee wedding were located by Chief Appleby today. Mr. and Mrs. Rowe did not wish to have them prosecuted and all confessed that they had been much ashamed of themselves from the moment they learned how much unhappy their "jobs" had caused. They were given a severe lecture by the chief. Roy Holman, Joe O'Hara, Cleveland Hughes, Don Oliver, Herbert Kelson, Gordon Milliken, Leonard Tuckwood, and a boy named Ward were the culprits.

ST. PAUL TRAIN WAS WRECKED AT HANOVER

Eleven Cars on the Mineral Point Way Freight Ditch Near Hanover This Morning.

Traffic on the Mineral Point division was completely blocked and much damage done this morning when the Mineral Point way freight, number 91, was derailed two miles east of Hanover. Of the twenty-eight loads with which the train left Janesville, ten merchandise cars were piled in the ditch while another was wrecked. No injuries resulted from the wreck. Conductor Portland, Engineer Smith and Fireman Kilkenny had charge of the train which left Janesville for Mineral Point about seven a. m. Just what caused the wreck is unknown but it is thought to be a defective rail as engine 860 escaped without damage.

Although a wrecking crew was immediately dispatched to the scene, it was impossible to clear the track in order to allow passenger trains to pass. Train number 8, due here from Mineral Point at 10:15, was held on the west side of the wreck and the passengers transferred to train 21 which was held on the east side, while the passengers on 21, enroute for Mineral Point and intermediate points, were transferred from 21 to No. 8.

Derailed at Stoughton.
Another derailed, not so serious as the Hanover accident, held up train No. 140, Madison to Chicago, scheduled to leave here for the south at 7:30 a. m. A car on the Prairie du Chien way freight, No. 61, was derailed at Stoughton and held the passenger up for over three hours. It was 8:50 this morning before 140 left this city for Chicago.

GREEK SECTION GANG REPORTED FOR WORK AGAIN THIS MORNING

Engineer Weber reported for work on the switch engine last night after a short lay-off.

Engineer McCarthy and Fireman Kellner took out an extra this morning at 9 o'clock with engine 1611.

MANY FREIGHT ENGINES HAVE BEEN TRANSFERRED

Fireman Walters has displaced Fireman Hackshaw on the 6:00 a. m. switch engine, the latter taking the 7 a. m. engine in place of Fireman Dooley, who had gone on the extra board.

Engineer Cole acted as round house foreman last night during the absence of L. L. Hoffman.

PLEADED GUILTY TO A CHARGE OF ARSON

Charles Burroughs Will Be Sentenced Tomorrow for Setting Fire to His Home in Madison.

Charles Burroughs, who has worked in the local harness factories for several weeks this spring, and who was arrested here and taken to Madison to answer to the charge of arson, entered a plea of guilty to the information filed and will be sentenced tomorrow to the state prison for a term of from three to ten years, according to the judge's decision. Burroughs came to Madison from Columbus, Ohio, where a similar incident of the burning of his home occurred and the fact and the proof the officers had that he had shipped goods out of the house previous to the fire led to the forcing of a confession from last night and he pleaded guilty this morning. When arrested Burroughs pleaded not guilty and his bonds were fixed at four thousand dollars which he was unable to furnish and he has been in jail. Fire Marshal V. T. Purcell made the complaint. At the time of the fire Burroughs claimed he was badly burned while rescuing his wife from the flames but this was proven to be false as he obtained the burns he showed while adding in putting out a fire in an adjacent house. His fellow workers here are much surprised at the arrest and confession as they did not believe him guilty of the charge made. He worked for a Madison leather concern whose employees went on a strike. Much sympathy is felt for his wife.

When it comes to scrappy, aggressive leaders there is not anyone that has it on John J. McGraw, alias Muggsy, of the New York Nationals. Other games outside of the one in which the Giants are playing have all the dimensions and indication of the weekly sewing circle compared to the offering of the Giants. "Aggressiveness" is McGraw's middle name, and as often as not it slips right into "howdism." But when it comes to ruling teams early in the season the Giants are always given some consideration.

McGraw has won more than one pennant and he is apt to come around looking for another old year. His club right now looks much stronger than the one that he took through the 1909 season to third place, but it will have to be much better to overhaul the Cubs and Pirates in view of the difference of percentages at the close of last season. The lack of a catcher of the Bresnahan type had much to do with the downfall of the Giants last season, and that weakness is again apparent.

But they won pennants in New York before McGraw landed on the scene. In 1898 James Mullie managed a club that beat them all out and came right back with a reputation in 1899. Then in the nineties the Baltimore team, under Ned Hanlon, came to the front and it was here that McGraw learned the trick of winning pennants, and in 1904 he put it to use for the Giants for the first time and repeated in 1905. Since then National league pennants have come to the western clubs.

With pitchers like Wiltse and Mathewson, with a chance that Marquard will improve, that Crandall, Ames and Raymond will be better than last season, New York can be figured on to make trouble this season, though the chances for copying the Cubs, better than those of any other eastern club, are slim.

THE LUNCHEON.

Do the American people eat too much? That is, do they gorge themselves during the hurried noon hour each day? One noted foreign writer tells the people of his country that America is a nation of gluttons. That the great American pie is an institution of the republic. In the cities we find the one minute coffee houses, the quick lunch places, crowded during the hour at noon. In the smaller cities the majority of the workers go home to the noon day meal. But to the worker it is interesting to note what John D. Rockefeller, Jr., tells his bible class and the comments that life makes upon Rockefeller's maxim. It does not of course affect the average resident of Janesville who dines at home, but still it tells of the great outer world where so many of Janesville's sons and daughters are making a name for themselves.

"Thirty cents is all I ever spend for luncheon. It's enough for any man on a salary."—From "Maxims" by John D. Jr.

"What has been on a salary got to do with it? Is it young John's idea that a man on a salary can afford to put anything that happens along into his stomach at noon because his pay will go on whether his mind works or not? That would explain, but it would not be a moral explanation, and therefore cannot be what it means.

"The luncheon of a mind-working man is an important subject, not to be dismissed in any summary manner, thirty-cent fashion." Breakfast is the reconstruction of hope, luncheon the revival of energy, dinner the invitation to repose.

"The problem of luncheon is to get recuperation for immediate use, and enough of it to last through the working hours of the day with the least possible delay for the processes of digestion. Luncheon is the nearest to business of all the meals. Pleasure is concerned with it only so far as pleasure is an aid to digestion and invigoration.

"For people who work indoors with their minds the rule as to food at luncheon is—the least that will do, the rule as to drink is—no alcohol; there is no rule as to cost. Thirty cents is ample in some places; in others you pay four times as much and do no better as to food, but save time and gain by profitable association.

"Mr. John D. Jr. should remember that his venerable father ate 30 cent luncheons or worse when he could spare the time until in the prime of life he had to knock off work for five or ten years to make slow repairs on an outraged and dilapidated digestion. "Nevertheless, John D. Jr.'s counsel, given to the bible class scholars, was probably sound, practical advice for those to whom he gave it. "At breakfast out to live; at luncheon out to work; at dinner out to rest and play and restore waste."

WHERE IS THE REVOLUTION?

Persons who have watched the progress of the English budget and the bloodless revolt that has taken place against the power of the house of lords in English politics are most anxiously waiting for that revolution which the Tory leader, Lord Balfour, predicted would follow the work of the Liberal party's proposed changes. The budget has been passed by the house of commons and has also been endorsed by the house of lords and only awaits the king's signature to become a law. Still Lord Balfour predicted a revolution.

What means Mr. Balfour, no doubt, is the abrogation of the hereditary right of certain peers, not all, to vote in the house of lords. Under what was once the best developed system of party government in the world, Mr. Balfour has benefited by a reaction whereby a Tory government enacted whatever it chose; while the efforts of the Liberals were paralyzed by the unwelcome veto of the upper house.

The abolition of this veto, and the definition of the right of the popular representatives to control the public purse, which is at least as clearly included in that very vague proposition, the British constitution, as the hereditary house, would mean a revolution.

But it would mean taking what is by far the largest land-holding class fairly, where that class has hitherto been able to logellate itself almost exempt.

Mr. Balfour is not well informed on the subject of English revolutions. So far from resulting in the abuse of popular liberty, those of which history takes note are conspicuous for their conservatism. Charles I. was a more lawless ruler than any popular assembly could be. He reduced the country to a state of anarchy and bankruptcy before it revolted. The flag of England under Cromwell floated triumphant on every sea. The credit of the country was restored. The budget showed no deficits, and during his rule the British people went about their business in security within a fairly adjourned house of commons and no house of lords at all.

When the restored Stuart dynasty, as continued by James II., the puppet of the king of France, had made the British flag an object of contempt upon the sea and reproduced the condition of bankruptcy existing at the inauguration of the commonwealth, the English revolted once more. They were not particular about names or sentiments. What they wanted was results, and once more they got them under William III. History does not describe him as a lovable character, but he restored British prestige and he was man enough to do his business successfully with a house of commons whose power of the purse was never called in question by the house of lords.

This sort of revolution talk is rather like the scare stories children used to hear from foolish nurses. If, however, the British revolt, they can at least say that they have as fine a record in revolutions as any nation in the world.

CUBA SHOWS DEVELOPMENT.

It is but a few days past twelve years since Uncle Sam declared war with Spain and during the brief struggle that followed, wrested from that second rate European monarchy, the pearl of the American possessions, Cuba. Cuba was governed by the United States while in its swaddling clothes and then turned over to the Cubans for self-government. Once more that time has Uncle Sam been forced to send his soldiers and sailors there to bring about peace and tranquility and it is now interesting to note that this sister republic is really developing self-government.

The prompt action by the Cuban government this past week in making arrests of supposed leaders in the threatened uprising and in a display of military force at certain points where disorder was imminent has prevented any serious outbreak. Senator Paolodoni, secretary to President Gomez, said that the government had early information that a small number of the members of the independent party of color had planned simultaneous uprisings with the intent to institute war against the whites and overturn the government. The taking into custody of these mainly instrumental in the movement has quelled the restless element and tended to restore tranquillity and confidence. It is believed the negro members of the rural guard will remain loyal.

With the ending of the sugar season, which is now rapidly drawing to a close, many thousands of laborers will be thrown out of employment for three or four months, and discontent is likely to be manifested in consequences. In order to be better prepared to deal with any disturbance of the peace, the government is stationing garrisons at various places instead of keeping the whole of the regular army at Camp Columbia.

Cuba is paying its debts and trying to conduct its affairs in an economical and businesslike manner, and it would be particularly unfortunate to have its progress interrupted by a conflict at this time. The Cubans were never before so prosperous, for the industrial interests of the island have been fostered by the comparatively long period of relief from strife and by the safeguards placed about constitutional rule in the obligations laid upon the country by the United States. The object of these back of the throat insurance is presumed to be to bring about intervention by Uncle Sam. The Cubans have been shown how to protect themselves, and are doing very well in the experiment of self-rule. It has been gratifying to observe that they stored past the rocks lying near their course with a firm hand at the helm.

Nine Insurgent elephants went on a rampage down an Illinois city and did ten thousand dollars' worth of damage. The leader was declared crazy and the other eight were sentenced to strangle him to death with huge chains for following his lead. Strange to say this outrage was committed down in Speaker Cannon's home district and the quelling of the "insurgents" speaks well for his victory this fall.

It would appear as though the Turks had found the sign, "No Thoroughfare," upon the sign posts at Kachanik Pass. However, they may succeed in making the Albanians believe the sign was meant only for a joke before they get through. Those Turks are a very determined sort of individuals.

Mrs. Cornwalls West is not at all pleased with the idea that Colonel Roosevelt dared to refuse her invitation for a reception after she had invited all her guests to meet him. However, as the party was to have been given in the colonel's honor he will not mind much when he reaches London.

The insurgent chautauque lecturers are going to have opposition in the shape of some of the regulars, among them Speaker Cannon, who will tell the public his side of the story. It is safe to say that the public will be fed with political talk this summer.

La Follette is to tour the state in an automobile and by train so as to reach every community before the fall primaries. This is the old time method of campaigning and if they would add a few torchlight processions it would add festivity to the occasion.

There is really no good substitute for sunshine. Old Sol has an enviable position in this world in that it permits no substitute to take his place.

(Copyright, 1909, by George Mathew Adams.)

Who are these sad and sorrowful men, whose eyes are full of unshed tears? They're grafters, going to the pen to serve their term of sundry years.

THE SAD PROCESSION. They saw a man in a stack of gold; and now they walk the prison way; their souls are sick, their feet are cold. And some were men of high estate, who did their wits in sin employ; and now they gaze through iron grates upon a world they can't enjoy. And some were given public trust, and fell before the briber's rolls; their prison doors are red with rust, and rust is gathered on their souls. Ah, let us watch these mournful men, whose smiles are sadder than their groans, who journey grimly to the pen, where man in misery atones. Each day the pageant grows and swells, each day some new men take their place, to jog along to chains and cells and to the records of disgrace. And every man who falls in line, and bids the world of light adieu, was once as honest as fine, as candid and as straight as you! When you have made your name as you! When you have made your name as you! When you have made your name as you!

NEW RAILS FOR STREET CARS

WILL BE LAID IF COURT GRANTS APPLICATION.

TO MAKE A $10,000 LOAN

Which Has Been Filed by the Receiver of Janesville Line—Engineer is Taking Measurements.
If Judge Grimm grants an application on the part of the receivers of the Janesville Street Railway company property for permission to borrow $10,000, loaning for the same the amount which shall be made payable before any part of the mortgage debt is settled when the property shall finally be sold, the work of reconstructing certain portions of the road bed and some of the wiring may be commenced within the next few weeks.

There is a line of thirty-five pound rails from the Milwaukee street bridge to Academy street which was put up on iron "chairs" to bring it to the surface of the pavement and these have broken in many instances and let the rails down. The first work, therefore, will be to lay heavier and more suitable rails from the bridge to the depot. Owing to the fact that the rails no longer manufacture the size of brick used in paving Milwaukee street, some little difficulty is anticipated on that score.

Work on South Main street cannot be commenced until after the engineer fixes the grades and sets the stakes for the contractors who are to lay the brick pavement there. The city council, it is understood, may commission J. H. Watson to build the Spring Branch bridge of reinforced concrete but up to the present moment the plans for that structure have not been completed.

Civil Engineer Anderson of Rockford is here today taking measurements and making estimates for the material that will be needed to carry out these and other projected improvements.

Washington street, which now containing is to be done by the city, will also receive early attention.

The application to the court has been approved by the bondholders and is accompanied by documents showing that service has been made on the Finance Co. of Pennsylvania, and that Attorney's affidavit regarding the condition of the line.

FOUND OVERCOME BY ILLUMINATING GAS

George W. Jones Had A Narrow Escape From Death Wednesday Morning.
George W. Jones, foreman for the Field Lumber Co. was found almost asphyxiated by illuminating gas in a room at his home, corner of Myrtle and Olive streets, Wednesday morning. Had it not been for an aperture in the glass of a closed window it is almost certain that he would have been beyond all human help when his wife made the discovery upon her return from a trip down town. Dr. E. F. Woods who was the attending physician would make no statements regarding the case.

LOCAL PARAGRAPHS.

W. H. C. To Evansville: The ladies of the W. H. C. will be the guests of Evansville Corps No. 24 tomorrow afternoon. They will take the C. & N. W. train leaving at 11:15 a. m.

Leather Workers' Dance: There was a large attendance at the dance given an Assembly hall last evening by the striking leather-workers for the purpose of raising funds to aid their cause, and a delightful time was enjoyed by all of the participants.

Disorderly Conduct: Charles Blaw who indulged in some promiscuous fighting on the streets last evening pleaded guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct in municipal court this morning and paid a fine and costs amounting to $1. John P. Roberts of Heloit was unable to pay a fine and costs of $1 for drunkenness and went to jail for six days.

Hankow, China.—The anti-foreign sentiment at Chang-Sha and nearby points is even more far-reaching than the first messenger reports showed. The rice riots continue and already a number of villages have been reduced to ashes by a native mob and many Chinese women and children have been killed. The country is plagued with threats to kill all foreigners. Gunboats in the rivers have their guns trained on Chang-Sha and have afforded refuge for many foreigners. Resistance was made when vessels approached Chang-Sha to rescue imprisoned ones. Telegraph wires have in many cases been cut, and altogether the situation is most critical.

Washington, D. C.—United States Minister Calhoun views the situation in the Hunan province as serious. He has requested Rear Admiral Hubbard, commander-in-chief of the Asiatic fleet, now at Amoy, China, to be in readiness to give assistance should it be found necessary.

GAYNOR IN SPEECH ATTACKS W. R. HEARST

At Banquet of Publishers He Charges Falsification of Public Document.

New York, April 20.—Mayor Gaynor, George Ade and Woodrow Wilson, president of Princeton University, were the principal speakers at the annual banquet of the Associated Press and American Newspaper Publishers' association held at the Waldorf-Astoria last night.

Mayor Gaynor, in responding to "The Press and Its Relation to Public Officials," which subject had been assigned him by the editors, took occasion to assail W. R. Hearst. He referred to a recent article in one of Mr. Hearst's papers and branded it as a "forgery and falsification of a public document."

Ade spoke on "Helping the Editor," and told what advertising had done for him.

President Wilson in his address declared the power of the newspaper editorial is not what it once was.

Corsets for Men Barred.

New York, April 20.—Corsets for young college students who must take the part of woman in college theatricals have been officially tabooed by the dramatic director of the New York university actors. The prohibition follows an attack of syncope suffered by an undergraduate at a dress rehearsal while tightly laced.

G. FULTON.

South Fulton, Wisconsin, April 20.—The funeral of Mrs. Edwards was held at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Henry Bruce, last Thursday afternoon. Reverend Roberts of Edgerton officiating.

Mrs. Nepling is visiting her sister, Mrs. Ella Hubbard.

Mrs. James Thomson and son, Leonard are visiting her sister Mrs. Briggs in Jansville.

Mrs. Moff and daughter of Newville and Mrs. August Wolff visited at the home of Mrs. Albert Stark last week.

On account of the disagreeable weather there were no services at the U. B. church last Sunday.

Charles Thompson is spending a few days with his friend George Noy.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Church are entertaining guests from Chicago.

George Kettle is working for Amos Brown.

Ladies Aid will be held on Thursday p. m., May 5, at Mrs. Chas. Brummond's.

World's Vital Statistics.

It is computed that 67 people die, and 70 are born every minute.

Chicago, Ill.—Among the many Americans whose lives are endangered in this plot at Chang-Sha are several Chinese. No word has been received from the missionaries since April 10, when a cablegram declared the authorities were unable to protect the foreigners and that all their residences and buildings had been destroyed. At that time all the Americans were safe. Rev. C. Newton Dubs, who is superintendent of the missions at Chang-Sha, is of central interest in all attacks on missionaries. He has been at his post during the last 10 years and knows conditions in central Asia perhaps better than any other missionary. He is accompanied by his wife.

On August 31 of last year Rev. Irving Dunlap and his young wife left America to take up their work at Chang-Sha. Rev. T. L. C. Suhr, Mrs. Esther Suhr and child and Miss Mary T. Haeppel, who has charge of the girls' boarding school, constitute the entire balance of the Christians in central China.

Your Violets May Have Dyspepsia.

With all its fascinations, violet raising is often attended with many disappointments. Perhaps one reason for amateurs having trouble with unhealthy plants is an overrichness of the soil that is given them, for, unlike some other flowers, violets are apt to have a sort of dyspepsia all their own from over-nourishment.

Grecian System of Voting.

A London bull takes the place of the voting paper in Greece. For every candidate there is a ballot box, divided into a "Yes" and "No" portion; it is so constructed that the voter can drop one of the balls secretly into which ever of the two receptacles he desires.

Similarity of Lead and Steel.

Lead when reduced to a very low temperature in liquid air, is said to act much as steel at ordinary temperatures. It will serve as a helical spring, for example. Just as iron is soft and malleable at a high red color, so lead is dull and soft at ordinary temperatures, for it is then already well on its way to be melted.

To Take Ink Stains From Ivory.

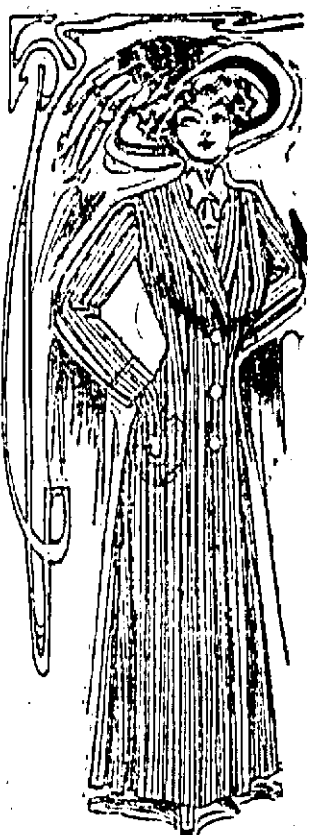

A piece of priceless old ivory became badly stained with ink. I tried vainly to remove this until with fear and trembling I used my cream silver polish. This proved precisely the right thing and improved the luster of the ivory.—Good Housekeeping.

Where Heroes Come From.
In the main it seems as if the hero type were more often found in the wilder places than among factories and music-halls, and your romantic follow of the primal order is quite apt to have in his rough make-up ways something very healthy and enviable that has long withered in the smoke and glare of polished and asphalted towns.

Let the Work Be First.
Never mind where you work; let your cure be for the work itself.

Change, Easily Made.
Five-year-old Helen, was industriously hemming a square of pink gingham for a doll's table cover. She held it up and examined it critically. "Mother," she said, "I don't think this is a very stylish tablecloth. I guess I'll put a pair of sleeves in it and call it a carset cover."—The Bellman.

Under Sentence of Death.
Condemned to death, a prisoner in Greece is kept in confinement for two years before the sentence is carried out.

A Husband's Pledge.
A wealthy middle-aged divorcee who married a good-looking, and companionable young fellow, penniless himself, is said to have exacted from him, as part of the marriage contract, the pledge that he would spend every evening of his life with her. They were inveterate theatergoers until his death, which seems to corroborate the curious story. Many women would like to have the same power of keeping their husbands at home.—New York Press.

$3.00 Pumps, Oxfords and Ties, Special at REHBERG'S 2.40

Here is an exceptional opportunity. It's one of those snags that come to every big merchant who is progressive enough to take advantage of it.

We secured a lot of Oxfords, Pumps and Ties, fine footwear for women, at a price which enables us to offer them at a saving of 60c on every pair. It's one of those late season purchases, the makers being willing to sacrifice them in order to get them on the market before it was too late.

The line is comprehensive in its style range, including one, two and three strap pumps, two, three and four eyelet ties, and some very clever novelties in the form of instep strap pump and one eyelet tie combined. This last number is beautiful in its lines and offers a variation from the prevailing styles. The leathers are patent, dull kid and gun metal, including also a number of tans. Ties are being shown in the east for this summer wear and it is expected that they will be good again.

Queen Quality and Solby Oxfords at $3.00 and $3.50, in the season's smartest styles. These two lines are making new friends daily, because they excel in fitting quality and in grace of lines. You will like them better than all others. See our complete spring showing.

Wear a Kneeland Oxford

This spring let us fit you out in Kneeland oxfords. No matter what your taste may be, there is a Kneeland to meet it. There are the broadroad lasts for tired feet—and they have style, too—and the knob toe, the Arcade, the speed lasts, etc. Kneelands really have the qualities and the style. We recommend them to our friends and they thank us for it. $4 BOSTONIAN SHOES for young men in clever lasts and new styles, in tans, patent, gun metal and the new gray oxfords. Some of the best for the season are the two eyelet sailor tie, a semi-pump, two button sailor oxford, the Speed last, the Arcade and others at $3.50

One of the attractive features of the "Isle of Spices," which comes to the Myers Theatre Saturday, April 30, matinee and evening, is the song "The Goo Goo Man," sung by comedian Stanley Folech and twelve young and pretty little girls attired in costumes. This number is said to be one of the most sensational hits ever heard in musical comedy, and it is claimed that the audience in other cities have invariably demanded from a dozen to fifteen encores, which is surely record. Every one will probably be whistling "The Goo Goo Man."

Allan Lowe, the author of the successful musical extravaganza "The Isle of Spices," which will be presented in this city in the near future, has written a new musical comedy entitled "The Mind and the Music," of which A. Baldwin composed the music. The new piece will be presented at the Broadway Theatre, New York City, during the holidays. This new work should certainly be a success if Mr. Lowe's very excellent work in the "Isle of Spices" is any criterion. "The Isle of Spices" is now on its fifth season and still playing to crowded houses everywhere. In fact it has the longest record of any musical comedy now touring with the possible exception of the "Princess of Pilsen."

Theatre goers and music lovers of Janesville who have awaited with interest the return of Lulu D'Urbano and her Royal Italian Concert band and the organization that fairly took Janesville by storm on the occasion of its former appearance, will welcome the announcement of its engagement at the Myers Theatre, Sunday, May 1, matinee and evening. As the apocryphal acknowledgment of the creative genius of D'Urbano and in rec-of D'Urbano and the famous band in Janesville this season.

"The Climax" which has been the potent magnet of attraction on Broadway for almost a year, will be presented for the second time in this city at the Myers Theatre Friday, April 29 with the same excellent cast seen here last January. Manager Joseph M. Weber is sending to this city the original company, which only recently closed a run of almost a year at Weber's theatre, New York. "The Climax" is said to be one of the greatest successes of the century, and is moreover, a beautiful little drama, in which music plays such an important part that it is often referred to as a melody-drama. Edward Locke wrote the play and Joseph Carl Brel composed the incidental music, which runs through the play. "The Song of the Soul" sung by Miss Leona Watson during the performance, has become one of the most popular songs published in years. There is a haunting familiarity in all of Brel's music, and the audience leave the theatre trying to whistle it. While it is popular, it is decidedly in the line of the new. The cast which will be seen here, is the original one and includes Leona Watson, Editha Platte, Howard Lange and Thos. Fallon. The story is of a young woman Adeline van Hagen, who comes to New York from the middle west to study music and to develop her voice as a singer. She resides in the household of her instructor, Lulu Goffanti, and is beloved by his son Pietro. She is also beloved by John Raymond, a young physician from her home town. A minor operation becomes necessary to relieve her throat. It is performed by a specialist after which Adeline is left in the care of Doctor Raymond. Previously, how-prove the finest attraction seen here in many a day.

On the program are 15 papers by educators from as many different institutions.

JOHN W. KERN FOR SENATOR

INDIANA DEMOCRATS CHOOSE BRYAN'S RUNNING MATE IN 1908 CAMPAIGN.

IS NAMED ON THIRD BALLOT

Nomination is Made Possible by Withdrawal of John E. Lamb—Platform Denounces Payne-Aldrich Bill as Masterpiece of Injustice.

Indianapolis, April 29.—John W. Kern, Democratic nominee for vice-president in 1908, was nominated for United States senator by the Indiana state convention on the third ballot. Mr. Kern's nomination was made possible by the withdrawal of John E. Lamb of Terre Haute, who threw his 223 votes to Kern, making his total 995.

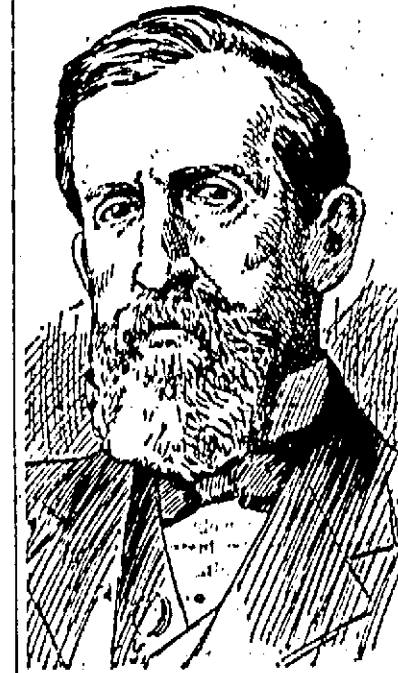

Following Lamb's action all the other candidates withdrew from the race, giving Kern the nomination by acclamation.

Kern Leads on First Ballot. The result of the first vote was announced as follows:

Menzies, 154; Adair, 132; Meyers, 67; Shuy, 138; Black, 174; Lamb, 223; Taggart, 228; Kern, 305; Becker, 51; Sims, 100; Hoffman, 100; Samuel Johnston, 90.

There are 1,747 delegates to the convention, and 874 votes is necessary to a choice. On second ballot Taggart cast his vote for Marion county (Indianapolis) delegation for John W. Kern.

Kern Explains Position. John W. Kern was given 647 votes on the second ballot and was led to the rostrum amid a wild demonstration. Mrs. Kern, standing in a nearby box led in the demonstration. Mr. Kern made a brief speech in which he explained his position. He declared his friendship for the two candidates had prevented him from being a candidate. "Because of these friendships I could not take an active part in the fight," he said. "This has given rise to the charge that I have hope to secure it for myself. To prove my sincerity I must decline, no matter how much it pains me to accept the nomination at the hands of this convention."

John W. Kern.

Ticket is Named. The convention then nominated the following ticket:

Low G. Kilgus, for governor, for secretary of state; W. H. O'Brien of Lawrenceburg, for auditor; W. H. Volmer of Vincennes, for state treasurer; Thomas Homan of Seymour, for attorney general; J. Fred France of Huntington, for clerk of the supreme court; Robert J. Aley of Indianapolis, for state superintendent of instruction.

Douglas Marsh of Nashville and Charles F. Cox of Indianapolis were nominated for the supreme bench; appellate judges, Joseph G. Buch, Hammond; Andrew A. Adams, Columbia City; M. D. Lacy, Logansport;

M. D. Hottel, Salem; E. W. Felt, Greenfield.

The Platform.

The majority report of the resolutions committee declares that Democracy is a conservator of property; declares alike both paternalism and communism; that government is best that governs least; friend of both labor and capital with equal opportunities and no special privileges. Denounces Payne-Aldrich bill as a masterpiece of injustice, involving remorseless exactions from the many to enrich the few; favors taxation for public purposes only.

It condemns cowardice of the Republican party in Indiana, which commands tariff act, and in same resolutions, Beveridge, who voted against it.

The report favors dollar-a-day pensions; income tax. It condemns ship subsidy and indiscriminate use of injunctions. It commends Senator Shively and Governor Marshall.

The liquor plank favors the modification of the present county local option law so as to make the unit of election incorporate cities and townships. Instead of counties, providing such modification shall not disturb the present "reconstruction" law and providing that territory already "dry" under present option laws shall remain so for two years from election.

MEETING TO MODIFY THE GRIDIRON GAME

Intercollegiate Rules Committee Assembles at Philadelphia—Gymnasium Championships—Racing.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)

Philadelphia, April 29.—The fourteen members of the intercollegiate football rules committee assembled at the University club in this city today to wrestle with the difficult problem of eliminating from the gridiron game those features of play that have jeopardized life and limb. At the recent meeting in New York the committee practically agreed upon modifications in respect to most of the objectionable points of the game, the use of the forward pass being the only important point left unsettled. The general feeling appears to be that the forward pass will be retained in an improved form, with most of the red tape and delays abolished.

Connecticut League. New Haven, Conn., April 29.—The championship season of the Connecticut baseball league opened today with Waterbury playing at New Britain. Hartford at Holyoke, Springfield at Northampton, and Bridgeport at New Haven. The prospects are bright for one of the most successful seasons in the history of the organization. The circuit remains the same as last year, though several notable changes have been made in the club owners, managers and players. The Bridgeport club, formerly controlled by the voters, an Jim O'Rourke, is now piloted by Gene McCann, formerly of Jersey City. Mike Finn, formerly of Little Rock, is the new manager of the Waterbury team. The league will play a season of 140 games, with September 10 as the closing date.

A. A. U. Gymnasts at New York. New York, April 29.—Many of the greatest gymnasts of the country assembled in the metropolis today to compete for honors in the national gymnastic championships of the Amateur Athletic Union. Representatives of Yale, Princeton, Columbia, Pennsylvania and other big colleges are entered, together with numerous teams from associations and clubs of the metropolitan district, and some great performances are looked for. The events include rings, horizontal bars, rope climbing, side horse Indian club swinging, parallel bars, tumbling, long horse, and all-around championship.

Racing at Lexington. Lexington, Ky., April 29.—Quartered at the Association track here are scores of fast horses who are to furnish the sport at the first of this year's meetings of the Kentucky State Racing Association, which will open tomorrow and continue through the coming week, to be followed by the meetings at Louisville and Lac onia. About fifteen starters are expected in the Kentucky Futurity, which will be the feature event of the opening day.

Zbysko-Roller Match. Chicago, April 29.—A lively interest is manifested in the Zbysko-Roller wrestling match which takes place tonight before the Empire Athletic Club. Dr. Roller has entirely recovered from the injuries he sustained in his recent bout with Mah-mont and is confident of his ability to gain the decision over the big Polish mat artist.

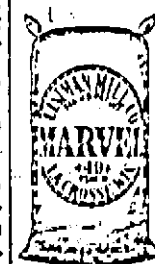

Voting in France and Germany. In France the voter carries the voting paper with him into the polling station; it is already filled in. He hands it folded to the presiding officer, who deposits it in the ballot box. A similar system is in force in Austria, and in the elections for the German Imperial parliament.

SCENE FROM "THE CLIMAX," AT MYERS THEATRE THIS EVENING.

ognition of the supreme merit of his band, almost every foreign distinction of value has been conferred upon them. Those who have seen him lead his band and have heard the thrilling strains which he seems to draw will not wonder that he has been showered with medals. Never again at pitance prices will people have an opportunity of hearing such an aggregation of musical artists. D'Urbano's wealth of long black hair has often times come in for scoring, but the strictest of musical critics in Europe and America have declared his band of forty-five pieces one of the best they ever heard. D'Urbano's style of leading is that of the excellent Italian school, the one that responds to every sound produced, with muscular motion. The management wishes that every lover of music, professional or student, would hear D'Urbano, and study the music as he plays upon his big instrument of some forty pieces. Watch him as he directs the different portions of his band. Rivet your attention for the time being, and you will hear tones, combinations, of tones and melodies that you would have overlooked. The music he plays is of the highest character. Wagner's, Verdi's, Rossini's, Auber's and the other masters and conducting it all without a score stamps him as a maestro. Many classic selections handled in such a manner that the composer's spirit and manner interpretation is preserved will become special favorites through their exquisite rendition. The high standing of the leader in the musical world is in itself sufficient guarantee that concerts of the most marked merit are in store. As an added attraction to the star band, Miss Leonora Annino from the Italian Grand Opera Co. of Milan, Italy, gives vocal solos at each concert. The program will be changed at each concert. This will be the last appearance ever, the girl has rejected both suitors. In order to follow the delightful will-o-the-wisp, "A stage career," Dr. Raymond employs mental suggestion to destroy the girl's ability to sing. The situations are intense, although natural and unlabored. There is an unusual comedy relief. The two together forming what has been pronounced the best play in years.

Just a true, clean, American play is perhaps the best description that can be given of "Polly of the Circus," which will be the attraction at the Myers Theatre Monday evening, May 2, coming here with the endorsement of a solid season's run at the Liberty Theatre, New York, and another season equally divided between Chicago, Boston and Philadelphia. It is perhaps not fitting that in a season remarkable for attacks by religious and civic organizations upon recent plays because of their alleged questionable tendency, that "Polly of the Circus" should be adding to its laurels as the cleanest and the prattest story told on the stage in the past ten years. There are no high sounding dissertations on marriage and divorce; no acute analysis of emotions, but just a compellingly human study of a tender child, born and reared among the garish life of the circus tent, thrown by accident into the home of a young village clergyman, and awakening to love, to knowledge, to hope and to God. The vain endeavors of misguided and bigoted churchwomen and deacons to separate the girl and young minister, the eager self-sacrifice of the little circus rider when she realizes that the clergyman's career may be imperiled by her love, and the final happy ending of the story after the actress, combine to make a play that has brought tears, laughter and sheer joy to hundreds of thousands of delighted theatergoers, and which will undoubtedly

THE INQUIRY NEAR AN END

SECRETARY BALLINGER TESTI-FIES BEFORE PINCHOT INVES-TIGATING COMMITTEE.

BRANDEIS' REQUEST DENIED

Glavin's Attorney Seeks Information
Bearing on Wickersham's Summary of Charges Prepared for President
—Committee Rules Against Him.

Washington, April 29.—Secretary of Interior Ballinger today went on the witness stand and gave his side of the controversy with former Forester Gilford Pinchot.

The secretary's testimony will mark
the beginning of the end of the long congressional inquiry into the conflict between the interior department and the forest service.

Mr. Ballinger appeared unexpectedly yesterday near the close of the session ready to take the stand. Attorney Pepper, counsel for Mr. Pinchot, was cross-examining Director George Otis Smith of the geological survey in regard to withdrawals of water power sites under Secretary Garfield and also under Ballinger.

Arrival Stirs Interest.
When Mr. Ballinger appeared in the wake of his attorney, Mr. Vertrees, there was an immediate revival of interest. The secretary took his seat beside his lawyer and listened.
Mr. Pepper soon abandoned his examination of Director Smith and it was whispered that the secretary was about to take the stand. This was his intention, but several of the committee members wanted to ask Mr.
Smith questions, and when the last had been put the committee had been in session beyond its usual adjourning time.

Attorney Vertrees had announced that he expected to finish his case by the end of next week.

At the beginning of the session
Chairman Nelson announced the committee had voted to refuse the request of Attorney Brandeis, counsel for L.
R. Glavin, for full information bearing on the preparation of Attorney General Wickersham's summary of the Glavin charges which he prepared for the president.

Mr. Brandeis aimed to prove his contention that Mr. Wickersham prepared the summary in December last, but dated it September 11 so as to make it appear that the president had based his letter of September 13, ex-onerating Ballinger on the charges, on that report.

Division in Committee.
The committee's attitude was that the attorney general was not under investigation, and that, as he had declined to have anything to say on the subject, it was not within the province of the committee to delve into the matter. This was the view of only the regular Republican members, however. The Democrats, supported by Representative Madison, the "insur-
rent" Republican on the committee, voted to grant Mr. Brandeis' request.

STRANGLE ELEPHANT TO DEATH.

Unruly Beast Who Caused Terror at Danville Is Slain.

Danville, Ill., April 29.—A big bull elephant which started the herd of a circus on a rampage which resulted in thousands of dollars' worth of damage being done, besides serious injuries to several persons, was executed in the presence of a number of physicians. Chains were fastened around his neck and pulled from each end by two other elephants. This was kept up until he was strangled.
Doctor Stealy, who superintended the execution, said that the elephant was practically insane, and if allowed to live would endanger every other member of the herd. It was valued at $15,000.

PRINCE TAO AT WHITE HOUSE.

Brother of Chinese Regent Dines With President Taft.

Washington, April 29.—Prince Tao Tao, brother of the prince regent of China, dined last night at the White House, the guest of the president of the United States. Seated beside President Taft and surrounded by members of the cabinet, senators and representatives and officers of the army and navy, the young prince of the Orient expressed to his host, through his interpreter, Lord L., a son of Li Hung Chang, his appreciation and the pride he felt for the honor conferred upon him.

Attell Has Shade on Murphy.

New York, April 29.—Alb Attell, champion featherweight of the world,
earned a half-line decision over lightweight "Harlow Tommy" Murphy in ten fast rounds at the Empire Athletic club. The honors of the milling were so close that a referee's decision might have been a draw.

CAUSES DEBILITY

Here are Facts Backed Up by a Strong Guarantee

Catastrophic debility, in our opinion, most people suffering from general debility have catarrh. Such cases of debility cannot be completely cured by medicine not designed to eradicate catarrh. In every case where our remedy fails to give entire satisfaction, we will not charge a cent for the medicine employed during the trial. Now, surely no one should hesitate to believe us or to put our claim to a practical test under such conditions. We will take all the risk; no one else can lose anything by the transaction.

We make these statements and this offer because we know and have time and again proved that Rexall's Mucous Tonic rarely fails to do as we claim. It is not a cure-all prescribed to cure every disease that flesh is heir to. It is intended for one purpose, i. e., to cure catarrh by assailing the diseased condition in a reasonable, scientific way, which is to employ agents that have been found to have the tonic and alterative power to correct faulty metabolism (tissue change) and to stimulate and help nature overcome the cause or causes of catarrh. This being done, appetite increases, nutrition improves, weight is gained, comfort of body is attained and life's work taken up with the zest natural to the perfectly healthy individual.

We want you to try Rexall's Mucous Tonic. Follow directions and take it regularly and consistently for a reasonable length of time. Then, if you are not satisfied, come back and tell us and the money you paid for the treatment will be returned without any argument whatever.

Rexall's Mucous Tonic comes in two sizes, 50c and $1.00 a bottle. Sold only at our store.—The Rexall Store, The Smith Drug Co.

A Husband's Pledge.
A wealthy middle-aged divorcee who married a good looking and companionable young fellow, penniless himself, is said to have exacted from him, as part of the marriage contract, the pledge that he would spend every evening of his life with her. They were inveterate theatergoers until his death, which seems to corroborate the curious story. Many women would like to have the same power of keeping their husbands at home.—New York Press.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

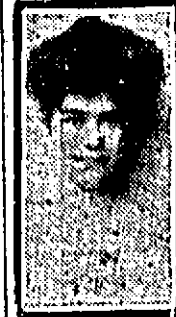

By RUTH CAMERON

A FEW days ago I read in the newspapers the story of how a beautiful young woman had come to the verge of starvation in the city of New York.

Did it make my blood boil to think that such things could be in a civilized community? No, I was simply thoroughly indignant at and disgusted with the young woman.

A queer way to feel?

Not at all.

For the young woman was Mabel Gliman Corey, the former chorus girl, now mistress of millions, and the starvation was self-inflicted and was for the purpose of maintaining the hips, curves, and unnatural figure that is considered an indispensable nowadays.

Imagine being possessed of wealth and health to enjoy to the full all the pleasures that wealth could buy, and deliberately destroying such great opportunities for happiness, simply in order to be thin.

Now is Mabel Corey's case a very extraordinary one. Every now and then the papers chronicle the sickness of some society woman who has broken her health trying to be thin.

"Hones," said my dressmaker to me, gravely, the other day, "are beautiful nowadays. The girl with the long, thin neck and the bones big enough to hang a hat on is in luck these times."

"A thin slip of a girl like a new moon."

Sure to be rounded into beauty soon."

wrote Longfellow once upon a time, of Agnes Surry.

Doubtless if he had lived in these days some stylish dressmaker would have told him that he was writing nonsense—that if Agnes were "thin slip of a thing" she was already at the verge of beauty, and that any "rounding" far from making her beautiful, would make her quite impossible.

And I think it's all perfect nonsense.

Call bones and straight lines and absolutely figureless figures stylish if you will but don't try to persuade me that they are beautiful or healthy. Health is the first requisite of beauty, and beauty is positively dangerous.

"The anxiety to lose weight for a fashionable figure is positively dangerous," said a prominent doctor lecturing at Harvard Medical School the other day. "Some people think fatness is a disease that will go on and destroy the system, while on the contrary it is generally a sign of health, nature's reserve, and is just as desirable as money in the bank."

Now I am not blowing the horn of the woman with the redundant figure. There is nothing I dislike more than what the last generation used to term "a fine figure of a woman."

But I do maintain that womanhood curves and plumpness are just as beautiful today as they ever were, that this bone has gone on quite long enough, and that it is time the women of America revolted against it, and set up the normal figure again as the standard of beauty.

ATMOSPHERE OF LOVE.

By MARY HUSSELL.

"Love," said a thoughtful woman to me, "is not an emotion—it is an atmosphere."

Atmosphere! The surrounding and life-giving air we breathe.

That is not a definition. That is not a definition. We live for those that live in very truth.

The absence of love is death to the individual as surely as is the absence of air.

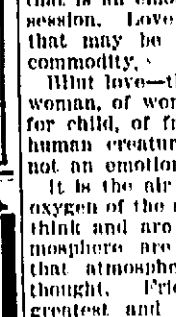

Men live on air. Love leaves them, but the real man dies.

We may scold and sneer at love but, after all, we cannot live to the highest and fullest of life without it.

The only question is what do we call love. We have had centuries of the kind of love that have an emotion. Love that is possession. Love that is selfish. Love that may be bought and sold as a commodity.

But love—the real love of man for woman, of woman for man, of parent for child, of friend for friend, of the human creature for its kind—that is not an emotion of the senses.

It is the air we breathe. The very essence of the soul. Those people who think and are happy in the same atmosphere are the ones who create that atmosphere out of harmonious thought. Friendship is often the greatest and highest expression of love. The man or woman who can

Feet Tired—So Tired?

TIZ Makes Sick Feet Well No Matter What Ails Them.

TIZ acts at once and makes tired, aching, swollen feet remarkably fresh and sore proof. It's the sure remedy, you know, for everything that gets the matter with your feet. It's for sore feet and for aching, bad smelling feet, and for corns, calluses and bunions, too.

For years I have been troubled with sore and tender feet, suffered intense pain, and had the assistance of physicians without relief. I bought a box of TIZ, which cured a perfect cure, as it has with a great many of my friends. I would not be without it. All it requires is to be known to be a sure remedy. A. E. Prater, Chicago.

TIZ is not a powder. Powders and other foot remedies clog up the pores. TIZ draws out all poisonous excretions which build up on the surface of the foot, and is the only remedy that does. TIZ cleans out every pore and restores the feet to their normal condition. You'll never limp again or draw up your face in pain, and you'll forget about your corns, bunions and calluses. You'll feel like a new person.

TIZ is for sale at all drug stores, 25 cents per box, or by mail for $1.00. If you wish to see a bottle of TIZ, write to Walter Lathrop Dodge & Co., Chicago, Ill.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

AN UNWICKED SINNER.

Deserted by her husband, forsaken by her friends, her dream of a cozy little home rudely destroyed, Mrs. Frank Standish, a frail little woman of Chicago, stood weeping in the divorce court.

She had stolen a few articles from a department store.

She was not a "kleptomaniac," a name given to those women who have plenty at home, but who are not able to withstand the lure of pretty things. "I am guilty," she said.

Asked her motive for taking the things, the weeping woman replied to the court:

"I wanted a little home. I took table linen and goods on that order to furnish the little place."

Of course, had Mrs. Standish been a rich woman, the goods would have been returned or paid for; there would have been no arrest, no fine, and nothing said.

But her husband had turned his back upon her because she had "disgraced" him, her friends had deserted her, and there was nothing to do but to throw herself upon the mercy of the court.

The fine was $50.

It took nearly all her meager fortune, leaving only enough to get back to her Michigan home.

The fragile little woman staggered from the police station to leave forever the turmoil and temptations of a great city. Her earthly belongings packed in a worn suit case, she started for the depot to join her aging parents on a Michigan farm.

Could story of a foolish woman?

Would, yes, but not wicked. Shall I say she should have been good at heart? She had the normal longing of every good woman for a little home of her own and to furnish it. Shall I say she sinned because of her virtuous desire?

Did you ever think how easily one's virtues may lead one astray?

Put an innocent young girl under a subtle temptation she does not understand and her very innocence may prove her undoing.

The laudable desire of a young man to get on in the world, carried to lengths, may ruin him.

Push a virtue too far and you have a vice.

Which fact of our complex being ought to make us very kind to those who sin not out of wicked but out of innocent desires.

Boston Faces Milk Famine.

Hoston, April 29.—A declaration of war between milk producers and dealers over the rates in the so-called Boston district, with the commerce in the principal sufferers, was proclaimed by the producers. Hostilities are to begin on May 1. Fifty farmers, representing nearly 5,000 producers, signed the declaration, which, if carried into effect, means a milk famine in Boston.

It doesn't cost much to get a man ready to be married. He buys a new suit of clothes, two suits of underwear, three extra pairs of socks, has his hair cut, and is ready. PESSIMISTIC STREAKProphet Gets "Blues" and Predicts
All Kinds of Wet and Stormy Weather For May.May weather will be similar to that of April, according to the forecast of Rev. J. H. Hicks, with perhaps an earthquake or two thrown in to add a variety to the program of rain and cold weather. The latter are predicted as being due in both northern and southern hemispheres in the period from the sixth to the twelfth. Rev. Hicks forecast of the weather for May is as follows:A reactionary storm period is central on the 2nd, 3rd and 4th, during which days look for change to warmer, with falling barometer, cloudiness and rain, all beginning in western sections and passing in due order eastward over the country on an advancing front, with rising barometer will follow closely behind these disturbances. A regular storm period is central on the 9th, extending over the 6th to 12th. Change to very cool night, with probable frost over northern sections will follow for several days west of storm areas in and following this period. From the 6th to the 12th, centering on the 9th, is one of the most positive storm periods of the month or year. There will be a great strain on the earth at this time, and earthquake shocks, diagnosed through the earth, from the southern to the northern hemisphere, are almost certain to occur about Friday the 6th, to Thursday the 12th.
The central days of storm danger are the 8th, 9th, 10th and 11th.Another storm period is central on the 13th, 14th and 15th, and the moon at first quarter and the culmination of the stormy period will heighten storm probability at this period. Regular probability of storm and change to cooler will follow at the close of all stormperiods. Should the barometer remain low, with warm, southerly, muggy winds, storm cycles will repeat themselves daily until these conditions break up. A regular storm period covers the 18th to 22nd, central on the 20th. Low barometer, much warmer, with decided electrical storms will result about the 21st to the 26th, centering on the 24th, at the moon's eclipse. A reactionary storm period is central on the 25th, 26th and 27th. Falling barometer and storms will appear promptly and pass from west to east over the country during these days, followed by cooler. The month ends as we enter a regular storm period.EFFECTS OF FREEZE ARE NOT YET KNOWNEdgerton Reporter Says Weather Has Plant Beds by Cold Weather Not Been Ascertained.It will probably be some days before the full effects of the late freeze to the plant beds will have been ascertained. The Edgerton Tobacco Reporter says the "Edgerton Tobacco" has been sustained in certain where the plants were well advanced and especially in localities where the snow fall was not a blanket protection. When the temperature drops to 10 or 15 degrees below the freezing point, tender plants are pretty sure to suffer, and this was the record of the toba-cacco growers throughout the tobacco sections of the state. But a good many growers held back the sowing of seed beds until they were beyond danger of this character. Where the plants have just begun to show on the beds the protection afforded by the snow may save them, and again where they were not yet up there is still hope the beds are not injured. What protection of the beds comes under these last mentioned conditions cannot yet be told and it is now fairly that many plantings have been lost. It is a distinct coincidence that the young tobacco plants just coming up will stand a harder frost now than any time later in their existence. Though plants once frosted are slow about recovering the shock and fresh planting seed usually best them to the transplanting date. However, to be on safe ground it might be well for growers to at once prepare additional beds and sow a supply of fresh sprouted seed. With ordinary weather conditions there is abundant time yet to secure plants from new seeding, in time for the average trans-planting.Matters are getting "back to normal" conditions again after one of the most severe late spring storms that ever visited this latitude. The blizzard of the 23rd and 24th accompanied by a foot of snow and heavy frees covered the entire west, and at first was thought to have done in-reparable damage. But it is now believed that the tobacco beds in the southern growing sections have escaped with but little injury, and warm growing weather has returned.The movement of taking over the remnants of last season's crop has stacked away somewhat, owing to the storm and had condition of the country roads, but former prices prevail where trading is done. There are plenty of chances for improvement in the market in case of loss. The only important sale of the week reaching us is a 5000 lb. lot of "7" from the John Brand packing, at Evansville, said to have been made for the use of a branch of the big trust, A.
Johnson & Sons bought an 80 case lot of "7" of Mrs. J. H. Iverson.The work at the packing centers is progressing as rapidly as possible under short help conditions, but sometimes handling will continue for some weeks yet.The shipments out of storage reach 525 cases for this market to all ports for the week past. Since last report 6 cars have been received from outside points for handling in this market.PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE

Case of Small Pox.

George Young, who for the past year has been in the city, is the subject of a case of small pox.

BAD FOR ECZEMA

Water Frequently Aggravates Skin
Troubles.In certain inland European districts where water is seldom used for bathing purposes the people are almost immune from skin affections. The best authorities now agree that soap and water are to be avoided in the treatment of skin diseases, particularly eczema when present in the scalp or on the face, as water is an irritant, and when not actually the cause of the disease, at least aggravates it. For this reason present-day physicians put up in liquid or soap form, or containing grains of alcohol, have always failed.The new skin remedy, posonium, is a dough-colored ointment, containing no grease. Under its directions soap and water are forbidden. It may be used on the tender skin of infants, with soothing and beneficial effect, and in eczema cases stops the itching immediately, rapidly restoring the skin to its normal condition.Every druggist keeps both the 50c and 25c (for minor troubles) and the $2 jar, and either of these may be obtained at Smith's Drug Co. and the People's Drug Co., as well as other reliable drug stores.But no one is even asked to purchase posonium without first obtaining a sample package, which will be sent by mail, free of charge, upon request
by the Emergency Laboratories, 32
West Twenty-fifth Street, New York City.three years has been a boarder at the Evansville House, was taken sick yesterday, and when Dr. Colby was called he reported the man to be suffering from small pox. An unimpaired building on the fair ground was made as comfortable as possible and the patient removed there last evening and placed under quarantine. Mr. Young has the disease in a mild form and is not seriously ill. Robert Miller is acting as his nurse.

Charity.

How often it is difficult to be wisely charitable—to do good without multiplying the sources of evil. To give alms, is nothing unless you give thought also. It is wrong, not to believe that it feeds the poor, but "blessed is he that considereth the poor." A little thought and a little kindness are often worth more than a great deal of money—John Ruskin.

Mrs. Malaprop.

little money for shopping this morning?" Mrs. Malaprop—"No, dear; there's the taxes to pay, and I expect the taxidermist around any moment."Every Time Lightning Strikes
You are in Danger of LossLightning storms are frequent now, and each year thousands of dollars are lost because of improper protection against lightning. Every progressive farmer today knows it's
